PROGRAMME HIGHLIGHTS

In Singapore, an employee who is injured in a work-related accident, namely one arising out of and in the course of his employment, has two avenues for seeking redress – either under a “Statutory” claim under the Work Injury Compensation Act (Cap. 354) (WICA) or a “Common Law” claim. This programme will provide participants with a basic to intermediate knowledge of these two avenues.

FOR WHOM

- Underwriters, marketing executives, claims officers and other insurance practitioners who wish to gain practical knowledge in handling such claims.
- All brokers, agents and other intermediaries who wish to have a better understanding of Work Injury Compensation claims from a legal perspective.
- Staff and representatives of general insurance companies who provide sales advice on Work Injury Compensation Insurance or advice relating to such claims.

KEY LEARNING OUTCOMES

By the end of the programme, participants will be able to:

- Have a better understanding of the Singapore Legal System, its sources of law and organisational structure.
- Outline the key aspects of WICA.
- Understand the framework of a statutory claim and how it is handled by the relevant tribunal.
- Understand how a common law claim may arise and how it is handled by the relevant courts.
- Explain the difference between a statutory and a common law claim.
- Understand some important legal principles relevant to the employee’s rights and the employer’s liability.
